tenerally higher. The stock market has been extremely, dult and practically featureless. In no case did the total sales of any one stock on the list amount to as much as 16,000 shares, and the total transactions in all bought and sold were only 100,20 shares. The extreme fluctuations, except in three or four instances, were within a range of 1 percent, but prices were well held all day, and the closing quotations are generally 1/2 to 3/2 per cent, higher then last evening with a continuous and the closing quotations are generally 1/2 to 3/2 per cent. than last evening, with exceptional act ances in New York Central of % and Central of New Jersey of % per cent., while Louisville and Nash-ville is up ½ per cent., with sales of 20 shares. There was a break of 1 per cent. in Houston and Texas Central. It was innounced that Mr. C. P. Huntington had given notice to bondholders of that company withdrawing the proposition he made them last week for fauding the coupons for two years into five year 3 per cent debentures and scaling the interest on the firsts to 6 per cent, on the seconds to 4 per cent, and on the thirds to 3 per cent. The market slowed very little change - t the opening, but early rallied a fraction and then continued steady proughout the day without any important reaction. A great deal of interest was taken in the meeting of rati-read officials at Commissioner Fluk's office, but no important news was received from the meeting before the close of the board. It is not generally believed that any decided action or restoration of rates east of Chicago will be effected at

Broker, No 21 Board of Trade. Chicago, Ill., May 26.-The weakness in wheat was caused by the increase in the visible supply. A decrease had been anticipated, and the reverse being shown caused free selling by longs. The bears have pounded the market persistently all day, and have carried their point for the timebeing. The market closed weak at the lowest point of the day, July 89%c, with a tendency of lower. Local bulls have been waiting for a decline before buying. It remains to be seen whether they can check the decline. Corn and oats continue weak, with a tendency to lower price. Increased receipts of corn, which promises to continue large, caused a very bearish feeting. Pro-visions also are depressed by large receipts, which are unusually large for this season of the year. Estimated receipts to-morrow: Corn, 400 cars; oats,

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

Produce Markets. CHICAGO, May 26 -The fine weather and the posted increase in the visible supply of wheat caused a weak market to day. The market opened very weak and sold off rapidly to a point 1%0 under the latest figures yesterday, reacted so and closed steady on the regular board at 1 p. m. Auother serious break occurred at the afternoon sesprovoked a strong seiling movement, which was oined in by the bears, who have been hammering he market for several weeks, and extended their lines upon the first indication of a serious break. The receirts were moderate, but the outward movement was somewhat larger. The crop reports reports were no brighter than they have been for reveral weeks, and as the winter wheat outlook. The predictions of a shortage in crop were more prone unced in many instances than any heretoiore, but they were not sufficient to stay the downward course of the markers. The receipts exceeded 600 cars, and a strong effort was made to break the market, considerable long corn being thrown overboard, but the general feeling was one of firmness, and while the premium for the June option was reduced somewhat, the other futures were steadily held. There was a good shipping demand, and a moderately large outward movement. The oats market was fairly active, and after a weak opening the feeling was firmer and the market closed a shade higher than yesterday. Provisions were weak and generally lower, slow, dull and weak, but quotably unchanged. Regular No. 2 wheat higher. Consols and increase in visible supply was a disappointment to many operators, who had counted on just the re verse. The weather was flue for growing crops, and the foreign markets were reported easy. The market opened %c lower, declined %c more, fluctuated and closed 1 c under yesterday. $1 Ca@1 22. The Best Honey Plant.

A prominent bee-keeper writes on this sub ect: I would place buckwheat at the nead of this class for value, it being one of our best paying crops for its grain, wherever it can be successfully grown, and whatever honey it yields is so much clear gain; but unfortunately its yield of honey is very uncertain. A few years ago I reported at one of our conventions that I had obtained 4 40@4 f5 | 6 15 16c; cubes, 71/4@77%c; white, extra C, 51/4@5 about 6 000 pounds of honey from some 18-16c; cut leaf and crushed, 77%c. Molasses twenty-five acres of buckwheat. As I only estimated the area of the crop grown within two and one half miles of my place, and later observations have convinced me that bees profitably gather from a much greater distance than that therefore, the number of acres from which the crop was gathered was greater than I stated. This was the largest amount of buckwheat honey I have ever obtaired in one season, while the smallest has been some less than two thousand pounds with at least one hundred acres of buckwheat within three miles of me. It is a mistake that this plant can be sown so as to make a succession of honey crops. No mat ter how fully it may be in bloom, it usually commences to yield honey about August 10 or 25 the earliest and latest it has ever commenced to yield with me having been the 5th and 20th of that month respectively. Professor Cook reports having seen it yielding honey much earlier in the season, but this single instance makes no rule. Alsike c'over also vieids honey largely, but its coming at the same time white clover does lessens its value materially. Its high crop value, bowever, for either hay or seed makes it one of our most profitable honey-plants. I have tested mowing it when first commencing to bloom, so as to retard its full bloom until after white clover, with partial success, but I find the following drawbacks to a full specess: Too large an era has to be handled to Afternoon Board-Wheat sold higher early, but | afford a material hilp, and a partial or entire failure, if the weather is dry. I have, therefore, abandoned this plan after experimenting wi h it two seasons.

merning, the tiquid in the bason was completely covered with codlin moths. at once ordered the tinsmith to make me thirty-five or forty basins, holding a trifle over a pint each, with wire bales by which to hang them up. The place selecte to hang the basin should be open and easy o access. No more liquid should be prepared than is needed for immediate use, for if kept long it will lose its ripe apple or new cider shell and taste. For thirty or thiry-five bas'us take a gallon of rain water and sweeten is and then add a little vinegar to give it soms, for it is the ripe apple or cider smell that attracts the moths to their liquid graves. Lthink sorghum molasses is the best for sweetening. The time for commencing the the of the bath will depend on the seasonsomewhere from the 1st to the 15th of May, and it should be continued until July, when the first brood of moths will have been cap-
